

Your "Ace In The Hole" for Energy Contracting!

BIO: STEVEN PITTS

Steven comes to ACE, LLC. SOLAR with over 10 years' experience in creative communications initiatives. He has led marketing and promotions campaigns for several companies in a handful of industries, including: the home and garden, entertainment, consumer products, and healthcare industries. Before even obtaining his degree in Marketing in 2011, Steven was promoted to an upper level position for an international consumer goods company, as Brand Manager, for his extraordinary exploits, insight, and understanding of the key purchasing indicators in the marketplace. After running a successful campaign to increase the brand visibility and prestige among the target market members, Steven gracefully retired from his position due to a change of lifestyle that simply did not compliment his place with that company, which was a tobacco company. After retiring his job as Brand Manager, Steven humbly re-enrolled in college and obtained his bachelors in Marketing where he graduated Cum Laude and brought his team in his Strategic Management class to victory with world-wide recognition in the Online Business Strategy game.

Now, as a Public Relations Manager, Steven brings his creative energy and initiative to the team and is striving to assist ACE, in communicating its proprietary ability to create all-inclusive energy solutions that save money. Steven believes that Solar Energy is a gift that needs to be utilized to its maximum potential to benefit mankind.

Steven and his wife Enochshiel live in Huntsville where they are raising three girls.
